

Motion Picture News

A Daily Feature in the Herald.

This daily news feature of The Washington Herald is for the benefit of everybody interested in motion pictures. Suggestions, comments, criticisms, inquiries, and questions are invited. Address communications to Motion Picture Editor, Washington Herald. Announcement is made that H. R. Howersten Company, the well-known real estate firm, is to erect a beautiful motion picture theater in H Street Northwest, between Ninth and Tenth Streets.

A new motion picture theater is also being planned for the city, now without any improvement of this character. It will have seats for 1,200. The exact location will be announced later.

"Bill" Alrey, the genial manager of the Alhambra, in Seventh Street, whose reputation as "the Barnum of 'em all" is interstate, continues to make the Alhambra the Mecca for Seventh Street shoppers, who "drop in" to see the excellent bill of pictures, which is a daily feature.

Referring to Seventh Street brings to mind the rumor of a leading merchant of Washington, known for his "hurry up" ways, is said to be interested in a new picture theater, to be opened in Seventh Street, between D and E Streets.

Miss Helen Gardner, whose appearance today as "Cleopatra," the sorceress of the Nile, for a three-day engagement at the Garden, has just purchased a $25,000 studio at Tappan, N. Y. Verily, there is big money in the "movies."

Every actor is not a successful silent actor. Many famous stars have learned this before it was "too late." Washington is well represented in the galaxy of successes.

Those in the auto trade seem to lean toward the Auditorium, in the New Masonic Temple, at New York Avenue and Thirteenth Street, as their preference for the place to see the pictures.

A correspondent writes: "Why don't operators use more judgment in regulating the speed of the machines, so soldiers would not seem to be on 'the run' and funerals not have the going gall which the Hoosier port, Riley, said was the way he wanted 'em to return after the burial?"

"Let operators use judgment in these matters, just as some of the musicians do in producing the style of music suited to the picture shown." A good suggestion.

Circular No. 17, of the Bureau of Education, division of school administration, Department of the Interior, which has just been issued, is replete with interesting accounts of the spread of the use of motion pictures in schools and colleges in the United States.

For the study of geography and history the use is becoming more general. At the Colorado State School for the Deaf motion pictures are used to teach the deaf and blind children of Kansas, the city school authorities have a contract whereby for $25 a month he gives on two Fridays a month showing of the pictures, such as "Manufacture of Paper," "Coming of Columbus," &c. The following weeks the pupils have written and oral discussions on the pictures they have seen.

Every school in Orange, N. J., now has a complete motion picture outfit. The Wisconsin University desired to establish a State exchange of educational films, to be available to local schools at cost. An appropriation of $10,000 is asked for this purpose for this year.

Interest in the Klaw and Erlanger productions, to be released Monday, September 2, 1913, has become national. Claim is made that the greatest visualized by the greatest filmists, bringing in a new era in moving pictures, will be the product of these new champions.

The question is, who of the Washington exhibitors will be the first to show the first release will, in truth, mark a new era in local picture circles.

Answer to correspondent: Yes. "From the Manager to the Cross" will be seen here. The date has not been set, however.

Because a scenario has "missed fire" and been returned "not wanted" is not the reason the aspirant should lose heart. Many who try their hand at scenario writing allow the impression of the pictures they have seen to influence them in their creation. It is only in the writing, in climax and action, even though the whole story prove to be the old story, is wanted by film producers.

Washington offers a fine opportunity for "placine" scenes. A military production, involving airplanes leaving their hangars at College Park, Md., attack from mid-air on Fort Myer, Va., destruction of the great wireless towers at the fort, race of airplanes, gunboat and submarine down the Potomac River, &c. &c. The last and found columns will be patrolled and rewards given. Men and women should rejoice if they are born under the sign Aries, for it gives them wonderful intuitive powers and a command of the invisible forces surrounding them.

Aries governs all birth dates between March 21 and April 19. These people will never deal in the small affairs of finance but amass great wealth and spend lavishly and generously.

APRIL 14.
Today Neptune is in conjunction with the moon. Caution and calmness should control the actions of all those who are in charge of human life on the high seas. Transportation by land and water may suffer loss and delay. Great caution should be used by those who are in charge of human life on the high seas. It was on this date April 14 that Lincoln was assassinated in 1865. The want ads will favor all financial interests in the coming week.

ONE-CENT POSTAGE ASSOCIATION'S OBJECT

President Burrows, of Cleveland Organization, Says Cost Warrants Reduction in Rate.

BURLISON MAY FAVOR PLAN

Officers of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association are in Washington for the purpose of interviewing President Wilson and Postmaster Burrows in regard to the establishing of a one cent letter postage rate.

Charles W. Burrows, president, and George J. McIntosh, secretary-treasurer and general manager, are accompanied by former Representative James H. Cassidy, of Ohio, who also is interested in the movement.

It is expected an interview will be obtained with Postmaster General Burleson and his assistants, and the entire question of 1 cent letter postage discussed in detail.

The National One Cent Letter Postage Association was launched in Cleveland about two years ago, and during that time has grown until the membership now amounts to the thousands. It has representatives in practically every town and city throughout the country, and is rapidly growing, according to these officers.

Cleveland was made headquarters of the movement, as the president and secretary-treasurer lived in that city. Hundreds of chambers of commerce, boards of trade, and mercantile associations have heartily endorsed the campaign for one cent letter postage, and officers of the association believe that they will receive a favorable hearing at the hands of the Postmaster General and his assistants.

President Burrows, of the association, said last night he was glad to see Postmaster General Burleson had appointed a commission to investigate the financial, physical, and working conditions of the United States Postal Service, as he believed such action would result in the showing up of a condition of affairs in the Postoffice Department that would speedily bring about a 1-cent letter rate.

"I am confident we can convince the Postoffice officials that the time has arrived when we should have 1-cent letter postage," said Mr. Burrows at the Raleigh Hotel, "I believe conditions, when investigated, will show that the government is making a profit of over $100,000,000 a year out of first-class mail. While 1 cent is charged for the carriage of a letter, it costs the government about 1 cent for service. The difference is in the nature of a bonus to the government for a service which is supposed to be conducted at cost. This results in the accumulation each year of an immense surplus, which is used in defraying the cost of service which piles up in other departments of the service."

For the past twenty or thirty years, this immense surplus has been piling up each year on first-class mail, but owing to the unbusiness-like administration of other features of the department, deficits have been created, and it has been necessary to use the money to defray such deficits. This is certainly unfair, and we desire to register our protest against it."

DEVOTION TO ST. JOSEPH.
This should be characteristic of every Catholic—Rev. Alexander.

That devotion to St. Joseph should be a characteristic of every member of the Catholic church was yesterday declared by the Rev. Maurice B. Alexander, in a sermon delivered in St. Martin's Church, Catholics throughout the world yesterday observed the feast of the patronage of St. Joseph, and Father Alexander took for his subject the words "Go to Joseph."

"St. Joseph is the greatest of all saints," said Father Alexander, "in that he was given special interests in common with the Most High. He was selected to guard Jesus, the Son of God, and Mary, his Mother. St. Joseph was as a screen to shield from the vulgar gaze Mary, the Immaculate virgin. It was Joseph who protected the young mother and the Christ Child on their way into Egypt, and on their return from exile. It was St. Joseph who furnished the daily bread that sustained Christ and His Mother."

"We should appeal to St. Joseph in every want, whether it be spiritual or temporal. Above all we should ask him to obtain for us from God the grace to die a holy death. St. Joseph himself enjoyed the privilege of dying in the arms of Jesus and Mary, and he is, on that account, the special patron for a good and holy death."

As the poet remarks:
"We look before and after
And pine for what is not."
The cards we throw away one hand
Would help the next a lot!

Health Officer Fronczak, of Buffalo, says measles is one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases of children.

Plans for opening a Confederate home will shortly be announced for the opening, May 1, of the Southern Relief Home for Confederate Veterans, their widows and orphans. Although for a time the new home, which is at 1115 Thirtieth Street Northwest, will be rented, it is planned later to purchase the property, insuring a permanent institution.

Miss Nannie Randolph Heth, president of the Southern Relief Society, by which the home is supported, has charge of plans for the opening of the Southern society's home.

"At present no programs can be announced," said Miss Heth last night. "The home is now being decorated, and until this work is completed no plans will be made."

Mrs. George Dewey, wife of Admiral Dewey, is among the socially prominent Washingtonians who have promised to equip memorial rooms. The "Mary McLean" room, as it is to be called, is so named in honor of Mrs. Dewey's mother.

Memorial rooms also will be furnished by Lawrence Quirillo, Mrs. Frank Emmert, Mrs. John Dyer, and Mrs. Leonard Hoffman, wife of the former aide of Admiral Dewey, Lieut. Hoffman.
